

Thursday Night Men's Twilight News

The June 15 edition of the Thursday Night Men's Twilight was brought to us by our good friends at Burns Jewelers. It was a gem of an evening, with the always popular Twilight Best Ball format putting a little added pressure on the players. Still, there were a few diamonds in the rough.

The team of Clare Sanderson, Peter O'Neil, Art Rent, and Doug Henderson shone, posting the low score on the front nine. The Hoysted band commanded the back side, and continue to be a team to watch.

The Roosteraunt closest to the pin prizes went to Kerwin O'Neal and Mike Donovan for their tee shots on holes 8 and 18.

Mike Ross and Mike Milks took home the Burns Jewelers bling for the best approach shots on holes 2 and 12.

The Town and Country Chrysler longest drives were sent into orbit by Jeff Carroll and Gerry Edwards on holes 5 and 15.

The tests of skill were completed by Ian Devonshire and Jim Gunn. Cirque de Soleil, watch out!

This week's Rocky's Road Rash ball went to John Hoysted. He'll have a chance at the Hunt and Dopson hole in one prize at the Closing in September. Good luck!

Last week's Obsessed With Golf trivia question: What year did the total purse reach one million pounds in the British Open? Answer: A. 1993.

This week's question: Tiger Woods was the highest paid athlete in the world in 2005. About how much did he earn?

- A. $65 million
- B. $70 million
- C. $85 million
- D. $110 million

See next week's article for the answer.